

SCHOOL OF ARTS & HUMANITIES

OFF-CAMPUS STUDY PROGRAMS

Our off-campus options span six continents and countless cultures. We educate men and women to be leaders in a global economy and to have a solid grasp of international issues, including cultural, social, economic, and political differences.

SUCCESSFUL GRADUATES

Our graduates have taught in public and private schools and colleges; served as journalists, editors, and creative writers; worked for NASA, CNN, Skillshare, and Dreamworks SKG; conducted professional music organizations, taught studio music, performed professionally, and served in music ministry; practiced law; worked in PR, marketing, and business. Some have pursued graduate studies in architecture, English, theology, library science, music, and medical school.

COMMUNICATIONS

The curriculum blends critical analyses, theoretical issues, and practical skills with real-world experience through the campus radio and TV stations, student newspaper, and professional internships.

Concentrations: Digital Media, Film, Interpersonal & Public, Multimedia Journalism, Public Relations & Advertising

ENGLISH

English majors develop writing and editing skills for a variety of professional settings and hone the critical skills necessary for graduate programs.

FINE ARTS

Students showcase their work in local galleries and juried shows, independent film festivals, mainstage productions in our state-of-the-art theatre, the award-winning Theatre for Young Audiences, and the Festival of One Act Plays & Short Films.

Concentrations: Art, Film, Music, Photography, Theatre Arts

GRAPHIC DESIGN

Students use the latest technologies to create design work in many types of media. They gain real-world experience through professional portfolio reviews, competitions, internships, and community showcases.

HISTORY

The history major leads to a richer understanding of the human condition in its various cultural, economic, and social contexts. History majors develop, research, and write a thesis.

HUMANITIES

Humanities majors create a personalized, interdisciplinary major that helps them see the relationships between subjects.

Concentrations: American Studies, Pre-Modern World, Faith & Arts, and Religious Studies

MUSIC

Music students prepare to use their talents in a variety of fields, including education, performance, ministry, and the music industry, through studying with a knowledgeable and experienced music faculty and performing with internationally renowned composers and musicians.

SPANISH

Students develop communicative competency in Spanish, studying history, cultures, and literatures of the Spanish-speaking world.
